because of most expert we are to judge otherwise because of most expert, I then took a second care to correct it in my mind, it with new observations found therefore while I stay in England some men of his probability, of our Philalthes, (whether it be a real or a borrow Name) had an intercourse by letters with very many English wth whether he be himself, or by others not to y^e purpose to know. This is confirmation of my opinion, if I should be to relate of y^e Pimon I have had correspondence with him by letters, & several ways maintained a friendship. It happened once y^e ~~some~~ ^{by chance} learned it so was write by y^e scholar of an Hospit, who was afterwards (the) in chains in France, when he had in Mr Boyl's presence, hand came into y^e, being after examined asked whether he knew Philalthes, he said he knew y^e private in France, upon hearing wth news, he desired to see this man some of other in name, as occasion would be transmitted in Paris, but being in his ~~inimities~~ prevented his journey by y^e fall of y^e horse, he rode upon, being thrown to y^e ground by y^e fall, y^e wound, & so by an unhappy misadventure extinguish y^e hope carrying y^e answer to Philalthes. But there are still more things w^{ch} seem to give light to this very obscure business. For it is certain y^e known to all who affect with any care of natural things, y^e there dy^e lately at London a certain Apothecary ~~and~~ y^e skill in y^e Chymicall Art, Starkey by name a man come to my mind enough wth his writings, w^{ch} I shall hereafter mention doe abundantly testify. Of this man therefore there is a great report, confirmed also by y^e opinion of y^e most famous Mr Boyl himself, y^e he was an American as being born in New-England, where having had y^e opportunity he had attained to a more intimate friendship with Philalthes, w^{ch} was so great y^e Philalthes more than once came into his Chymicall Shop, & not set some should y^e most requisite Experiments of our Art, w^{ch} even seemed in Starkey as a gift some pieces of God: with w^{ch} when he live splendidly, perhaps as it happens every arising he become suspected to Philalthes as if he had intercepted some of his Secrets & unseasonably divulged y^eem, he was at length deserted by him. With cause move Starkey he pass into Europe, then fore arriving at London, he soon showed some proof of y^e ^{extraordinary} Chymicall Experiments, w^{ch} he either had from Philalthes or w^{ch} he had obtained himself, by other means. That which not to be omitted y^e Starkey published many things w^{ch} rarely agree with our Master's Opinions, & are at least derived from his fields. I have properly from his writings And he more than once affirmed y^e he both saw Philalthes & maintained a sincere friendship with him, & it is this one thing unhappy y^e he lived high, & neglected his household affairs, he underwent a great loss in his estate & so he being y^e might misgiving. This may

Truth, who printed Philalthes's works, would confess y^e Truth, where they receive loose Books, or in w^{ch} language they were writ, this dispute might easily be end: in y^e first place I must publish y^e name of y^e man cooper a London Bookseller, who took care to print many things of this Antiquary: But Learning & Birring also were der w^{ch} name they were delivered to y^e. This was a of Flamel, Artophicus & Sordivogius, of w^{ch} I have will the occasion to give warning in another place. It will

The Preface of John Michael Galatinus to a Roman. 1701

There are very many things which induce me to have written this little more exactly of your Philology, whose Palace we publish, which had with certain new words, & as much as employment would permit, to set forth something also concerning his way of life & his studies, which I scarce find any satisfactory in Germany. For neither do I believe
